The latest single entitled Infinity, by Javi Lobe & Fransoafran is a lush neo-classical contemporary musical moment of utter magic. I have bathed musically within the realms of this latest offering from the artists a few times now, and each time I do so, the beauty that flows from this composition is simply incredible and deeply moving.

Strings and piano combine to bring us one of the most fluent and reflective singles of the year. The idyllic nature of this piece and the performance that brings it to us is simply gorgeous, and should be a hit in the singles chart with ease if there is any justification in the world.
