

The Eighth Fire

By

Vicki Logan

Written by

Steve Sheppard

The music of Vicki Logan is always inspirational, she not only makes her flute sing, she makes it dance as well, and that is a perfect statement with which to describe this latest offering by the artist entitled The Eighth Fire. Here is a single bathed in the fires of a Native American energy, and forged in the flames of her expertise on flute.

Her passionate performance on this single is sublime, and with an utterly symbiotic percussion, it the is the driving force, the engine room of the piece, it's vibrancy alone is guaranteed to manifest a huge hit in the singles chart with ease, and is a track that most seekers of stunningly good music would be proud to have within their respective collections.