

Strolling

By

Stephen Weber

Written by

Steve Sheppard

There comes a point in the day when all around is perfection, the sun streams in through the window and the dust of time filters through its beams, the warm cadence of the day unfurls in our halcyon moment. Stephen Weber's new single Strolling is now my new soundtrack for that aforementioned statement.

The calming and tranquil solo piano composition is utterly idyllic and improved my passion for this morning tenfold. Strolling is a delightful arrangement that you could leave on play for hours and never get bored, a sublime performance on piano, warm, tender and charm filled presentation with ease.