Rick Sparks has become widely known as one of the most sensitive performers of his genre and the new age scene is all the better for it. My Valentine, his latest single, originally composed by Paul McCartney, is probably one of Ricks most beautiful arrangements as of yet, the flute sounds and keyboards manifest a rich tapestry of sound and depth.

At times listening to this colourful offering, one can be transported back to some of the great romantic movies of yesteryear; this is film score standard without doubt, and in my view probably one of the top 3 compositions that Sparks has ever penned, a sure fire hit with ease.
