I have always had the highest amount of respect for the works of Joseph L Young and here on this single he proves that my faith in his creative ability true, by producing one of the most moving tracks I have heard for a while.

The mournful low whistles used here, manifests a Celtic motif that is quite haunting, and the ethereal arrangement of this track is divinely beautiful. Between Two Worlds is a wonderful musical narrative that allows us the listener to draw upon our imaginations, and engage with this blissfully crafted single.
