There is something quite haunting yet embracing about the latest single entitled New Dreams by pianist Angelo Nicola Giuliano. The steady progression on piano is like scenes from the past being replayed to an empty audience, in an old ghostly and dusty cinema, that has long since been forgotten.

The artist has a wonderful ability to create memory filled passages of tone, and manifest them into a track that simply won't be forgotten, partly because of its beauty and partly because of the tender and artistic performance by Angelo Nicola Giuliano.
