

Waiting For You

By

Fransoafran

Written by

Steve Sheppard

The violin of Fransoafran has been charming listeners of his music for a while now, and it is such good news that the artist has added to his catalogue another brand new and quite breath taking single entitled, Waiting For You.

The performance on Violin is one thing, but the multi-instrumental nature of the composition and the rhythmic percussion, really creates an addictive resonance here, one that contains a hovering intensity that also cannot be ignored, and that will go further to manifesting another huge chart hit for the artist no doubt, this is contemporary instrumental music at its best.