

Solitude

By

Joseph Sullinger

Written by

Steve Sheppard

I have long been an admirer of the work of guitarist Joseph Sullinger; ever since his 2011 album Earth Voyage I have been captured by his colourful and most serene performances.

Here on this latest single entitled Solitude we have the perfect composition to just drift away with. The gentle and classy finger work here is sublime to listen to and gives the listener the perfect musical place of relaxation to visit.

With ease one could imagine being in a boat and floating down a river on a warm August afternoon, totally in peace and bathed in a level of tranquillity like never before.

I could play this single on repeat for an eternity, it's truly beautiful and I feel it will capture your heart as well, a sure fire hit without a doubt.