

Do Not Stand By My Grave and Weep

By

Richard Dillon

Written by

Steve Sheppard

Richard Dillon is fast becoming a wonderful producer of very classy singles, his work as a composer has gifted us with such top tunes as Right Now, Puddle Jumper and Life Is a Roller Coaster, all within the last few years. However the artist and producer now takes on the sometimes difficult subject of death and funerals, and in doing so, has created one of the most memorable songs with the most meaningful of lyrics you will have heard for a life time.

Dillon utilises the gravelly voice of Mike Wilson on this his latest single, and the lyrics are the brainchild of Mary Elizabeth Fry; with a master stroke Richard Dillon has created a thing of great beauty here, the combination of heartfelt vocals, forward thinking and passionate lyrics, and a production quality that is sublime, makes this certainly one to watch in the singles chart.