Claudio Casanueva is well known for his utterly transcendent floating ambient works of art and here, on Ezequiel his latest single, he once again creates a stunning composition that is as transcendent as it is beautiful. The synths and keyboards on this composition are so redolent of the subject matter and as I listen to this piece I am minded of the words “Wheels within Wheels” probably the first mention of an extra-terrestrial space vehicle on the Earth.

This is an ambient arrangement that is so very soothing and peaceful to listen to, but one also that will with ease transport you to another place entirely. Casanueva has done it again and has created something utterly majestic.
